Team CRC, the weather does not look good for today.

According to weather.com, we have about an 80% chance of showers between 4pm and 8pm.

This on top of the fact that its raining currently at the track, though it was light. Fortunately, the heavier portion of the storm slide by about 10 miles to the West. I bet Randy can confirm he got a lot of rain in Charlotte.

There are more big storms coming across WI all the way to the bottom if IL.

I can't believe they will try to get this race in.. but you never know.
